

For Immediate Release:
Contact: Marie Young/Director(Birth and Family Health Center of The Effort) 410-0576
Steve LaRosa/Media Director/The Effort

Sacramento Agency On the Front Line Against Pregnancy Deaths

In a story from Time Magazine in partnership with CNN—Dateline-Today...

<http://www.time.com/time/health/article/0,8599,1971633,00.html?hpt=Sbin>

...the headline states, “Too Many Women Dying in the U.S. While Having Babies”.

On a daily basis, The Birth and Family Health Center of The Effort offers prenatal and postpartum care including but not limited to well-woman care, pregnancy counseling, pregnancy testing and free gynecological exams as well as connecting expectant mothers to community services.

While Birth and Family Health provides quality medical care on site, we also facilitate care into the hospital system for delivery.

Birth and Family serves over 5,000 women per year in the underserved area of North Sacramento.

" All too often, because of budget cuts and other barriers,
pregnant women have difficulty accessing prenatal care .
At Birth and Family Health Center we are able to provide women with temporary Medi-cal coverage and start prenatal care the minute they walk in our doors. Access to care is essential in lowering maternal mortality rates."

--Marie Young/Director, Birth and Family Health Center of The Effort